University Advancement "Advancement Inclusion Action Series"

Going Well:

Participation from all levels of the Advancement community.

Project Description:

The IAS combines presentations by campus experts with employee discussion on current diversity and inclusion issues on campus. Topics have included the representation of students of color at UO; blackface; women in science; privilege; transgender issues; Dreamers/DACA on campus.

Lesson Learned:

There is a real desire among members of our community to learn about and be more engaged with diversity and inclusion issues. This is even more evident when leadership demonstrates their own buy-in.

Challenge:

Finding/connecting with the right people who have both the expertise and the time to present.
