UO Portland "Suspended Moment"

Going Well:

This was an opportunity for UO Portland to be connected with our local Japantown.

Project Description:

Suspended Moment, a dance/soundscape, projection, poetry & sculptural installation that captured the horror of nuclear war through art. It was connected to the Hiroshima and Nagasaki Memorial event.

Lesson Learned:

We appreciated working on this exhibit with members of the Japanese community. It helped us recognize that it is important to have broad representation as we make decisions about what is displayed.

Challenge:

Balancing cultural tragedy and celebration in a display.
