- Self-nurturing
- Support structures
- Personal planning and time management
- Work style
- Time out
- Role models
- Staying aware of sources of inspiration and creativity
- Cultivating perspective
1) Identifying Key Elements of Self-Care:
(What does it mean for you—for example: )
• Avoiding burn-out and isolation
• Having a good support system for yourself, both personally and professionally
• Having safe places and safe people for venting frustrations and anger
• Taking vacations, holidays and comp time
• Taking time for professional development and being with your peers for mutual support

Self Care Self-Rating

___ Excellent. I have a model system of self-care and support.
___ Good. I can usually keep stress at a manageable level.
___ Fair. I need help learning to do these things without guilt.
___ I thought burnout was a way of life.

2) Identifying Support System People

Human relationships serve a variety of important functions that help to keep us human. Please read the descriptions below, then enter the names of the people in your life who provide you with support. Think of friends, family, neighbors, work associates, etc. While some individuals in your life can provide you with more than one kind of support, try to think of people who provide you with a special resource.

WHO?

Prevent Isolation: Inclusion, people who like me, will affirm me.

Prevent Marginality: People who are like me, share values. Mentors who can assist, guide and open doors for me.

Affirm Competence: People who know enough about what I do and can evaluate my competence.

Teach: People from whom I can learn new skills, knowledge and perspectives on the world; who keep me growing and up-to-date professionally.

Prevent Crisis Overload: People who will move in at bad times (foul weather friends).
Provide Intimacy: Close personal friends.
Stimulate/Challenge: People who challenge and stimulate me.

3) How to Build a Support System

Assess your current support system by reviewing the types of needs listed below. For each type, rate the state of your current support system. For the areas that are low, think of ways you could strengthen your support.

+ My support system is in good shape
  - The safety net has a few holes
0 This does not apply to my situation

What can you do to strengthen your support system? What's one specific thing you look forward to doing?
4) Burnout Rating Scale Exercise

Think over the past three months and answer the following questions according to how often you have experienced these symptoms.

\[ O = \text{Never} \]
\[ 1 = \text{Very rarely} \]
\[ 2 = \text{Rarely} \]
\[ 3 = \text{Sometimes} \]
\[ 4 = \text{Often} \]
\[ 5 = \text{Very often} \]

1. Do you feel fatigued in a way that rest or sleep does not relieve?
2. Do you feel more cynical, pessimistic or disillusioned about things you used to feel positive about?
3. Do you feel a sadness or an emptiness inside?
4. Do you have physical symptoms of stress such as insomnia, stomach pains, headaches or migraines?
5. Is your memory unreliable?
6. Are you irritable or emotional with a short fuse?
7. Have you been more susceptible to illness lately (colds, flu, food allergies)?
8. Do you feel like isolating yourself from colleagues, friends or family?
9. Is it hard to enjoy yourself, have fun, relax and experience joy in your life?
10. Do you feel you are accomplishing less in your work?

Scoring

0-15 You are doing well.
16-25 Some attention needed, you may be a candidate.
26-35 You are on the road to burnout. Make changes now.
36-50 You need to take action immediately—your health and well-being are threatened.
What Revives and Rejuvenates Us?

Deep Play
Deep. 1. The most intense or extreme part. 2. Profoundly absorbed or immersed. 3. A distance estimated in fathoms.

- The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language

Play. It is an activity which proceeds within certain limits of time and space, in a visible order, according to rules freely accepted, and outside the sphere of necessity or material utility. The play-mood is one of rapture and enthusiasm, and is sacred or festive in accordance with the occasion. A feeling of exaltation and tension accompanies the action.

--Johan Huizinga, Homo Ludens

The creation of something new is not accomplished by the intellect but by the play instinct acting from inner necessity. The creative mind plays with the object it loves.

--Carl Jung

Rejuvenation Exercises

Abundance
Write a brief essay describing your vision of abundance. What does living abundantly mean to you? (i.e. kind of work you do, spiritual life, home life, relationship with family, friends, community, etc.)

Gratitude
1. Having. List things that you have or own that you are grateful for.
2. Being. List experiences in your life that you are grateful for.
3. Relating. List people in your life that you are grateful to, and for each, state why.
4. Achieving. List things you have been able to do or accomplish in your life that you feel grateful for.

Go With Your Inspiration
Make a list of the inspirations you have received, ideas you have about things you would like to do or accomplish. Then, select from your list the three inspirations that have the most energy for you at this time.

3.
List steps you can begin taking right now to put them into action.

Stress Relief Tips

These are some things we all need to do for ourselves but sometimes forget when we especially need them. Find some that appeal to you and give them a try when you're feeling tense or nervous. When really stressed you can check-in with yourself with HAl:T. Ask yourself, "Am I Hungry, Angry, Lonely, or Tired?" and pick something from the lists below.

The Absolute Basics

Sleep. Work at home and other stresses can lengthen the day, but you need your sleep. The mind rejuvenates at rest. Getting enough sleep helps you feel refreshed and relaxed.

Eat healthy. Stress, burnout and secondary trauma deregulates stress hormone levels, but you can help restore order through consistent exercise and healthy eating habits. Eat every few hours to keep your blood sugar balanced. Drink plenty of water.

Exercise. Reduce stress hormone levels through exercise. Exercise-including hiking and dancing-will help you feel better while improving overall stamina and health. The right exercise even can be fun.

Do something fun or creative. Pick something you enjoy, such as:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Art</th>
<th>Crosswords</th>
<th>Games</th>
<th>Movies</th>
<th>Reading fiction</th>
<th>Photography</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cooking</td>
<td>Dancing</td>
<td>Gardening</td>
<td>Needlework</td>
<td>Writing creatively</td>
<td>Crafts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Make connections. Reach out to the people who matter most to you. Call a friend you can talk to.

Self-Care Tips

- Mark the transition from work to non-work with regular rituals, such as music, exercise, change of clothes or meditation.
- Incorporate a grounding tool at the beginning of the workday...an energizing tool right after lunch... and a relaxing tool at the end of the workday.
- Cultivate self-compassion with regard to your environmental stressors.
- Identify the three most nurturing people in your life and increase the amount of support you receive from them.
- Make relaxation part of your workday.
- Take an environmental audit of your workspace. Assess the comfort and appeal of: wall paint, scents, reading material, artwork, and furniture. Try to create a flourishing environment for yourself!
- Pursue personal development activities such as creative arts; mediation seminars and self-help groups.
- Engage in reading or a hobby, take vacations/pleasure trips; attend cultural/artistic events and movies.
- Evaluate the integration of spirituality and personal growth in your own life. Promote this synthesis.
- Build into your weekly schedule a concrete method to count your blessings such as an imagery exercise or gratitude journal.
Self-Care Plan

1. What are situations or experiences that you tend to find stressful or overwhelming?

2. What are signs that you are becoming stressed or overwhelmed (e.g., raised voice, upset face, impatience, exhaustion, loss of social life, strong reactions to minor issues)?

3. Please select from the activities below a few things you find helpful when feeling upset, stressed out, or overwhelmed. These are things that you can do for yourself and ways that other people can help you.

Self-Care Toolbox

Below are additional practices you can add to your self-care toolbox

1. Humor: Tell funny stories from your own life. Laugh at yourself. Invite friends to a 'joke-athon'. Watch funny movies and videos.

3. Play: Find games to play with friends. Allow yourself to be silly. Reconnect with your inner child.

4. Pleasure and Nourishment: Create and participate in activities for enjoyment only. Receive massages, attend concerts, cook favorite meals. Be with loving, energizing friends.

5. Feeding the Spirit: Find time to meditate. Be still or silent. Take solitary walks. Listen to inspirational music. Go to art galleries. Visit working farms and pick your own fruits and vegetables. Grow plants, spices and flowers in your home.

6. Rest: Respect your body's need for sleep. Lie on the grass and daydream. Own a comfortable bed with fluffy comforters and supportive pillows. Use sheets that feel good. Wear comfortable night clothes.

7. Travel and Spas: Choose interesting places to visit. Organize your travel activities so that you are not exhausted when you return. Spend time at cultural and performing festivals. Stay in one place an extend time instead of rushing from city to city. Choose a spa that offers sports, cultural activities, a good exercise program and well-prepared foods.

8. Conference and Workshops: Go to conferences and workshops on healing and spirituality.

9. Posture and Balance: Practice ways of standing, sitting and moving easefully while engaging in everyday activities. Befriend gravity by balancing your body and thinking "up". Support you upright position by lengthening your spine and relaxing your head and neck.

10. Love and Friendships: Cultivate friends like a garden full of colorful flowers, fragrant and mutually nurturing. Open your heart... to the love of family and friends. Cherish time with them. Share your life with people who love, respect and support you.

11. Volunteering: Contribute your time, energy and space to causes and people you believe in and want to help. Finds ways to support them that will have meaning for your. Support the healthy future of our planet.

12. Space and Environment: Listen to the relationship between your inner and outer space. Design a workplace that is comfortable and energizing. Create a home you love, no matter how small. Allow your inner life to guide you.

13. Reading: Return to the experience of living with the characters in novels. Expand your mind through biographies and works on history, philosophy, spirituality and science. Curl up in bed with a book.
